

D

 212 7398
 F 6

2B

Cutaneous state of fever read it.

The Leprosy I have said is a misp? bilious fever. I have no doubt of the fact, from the its accompanying the bill of fever in all ages & countries. ~~From~~ may more the blood often acquires a black color, hence the origin of that state of Leprosy which is attended with a black skin. It is ~~black~~ owing to black bile, or black blood being effused, & stagnating in the rete mucosum. As Colera morbens is the highest grade of bilious fever turned inward, so Leprosy is probably its highest go

in the
in
the de
—
la
B
n grade turned outward. ~~The~~ In the cure of ~~misplaced~~ ^{misplaced} bilious fever in the Liver, or Brain, the same force in the remedies is necessary to remove them as is necessary to cure the origin: disease in its ^{natural} seat in the blood vessels.

— Perhaps it may be found hereafter that the same force ~~in the~~ remedies ~~for~~ & in the same force, may be necessary to cure the the dyspepsy ^{ch} w: are used to cure a yellow fever.
— The ~~only~~ principal cures ² are upon record have been effected by powerful evacuations by vomits & purges. The late Dr Van Roon

in

cit

ha

in its

Sp

w

=2

i

h

.

.

.

.

informed me in his visit to this city in the Spring of 1793, ^t the lizard has often been given with success in the dropsy in Spain, & ^t it owed its efficacy to its feeding upon a Spider called the Rana Avicularis, which rendered the flesh of the Li-zard ~~so~~ poisonous, by which means it acting powerfully as an emmenant thro' the bowels, stomach, pores & kidneys. Lar has been used in large doses by a Dr. Perisse in Barba-does with success. It operates the Author of the Account says powerfully upon the stomach & bowels. Moderate ✓ 2^{ly} The wonderful & immediate Action of V.S. upon the state of the Skin in other diseases. It checks petechiae & purple spots in fevers of all kinds, more especially the small pox. It removes a coldness & heat from the skin when they are prurient natural & ^{lastly} It cures sore legs, & ophthalmia both of which are ~~on the surface~~ ^{as far} removed from the circulation as the skin. It pro: -motes & checks sweats -

V.S. has often given relief in this disorder ^{case} I suspect its radical cure will finally be discovered in the harvest, but to be effectual it must be used in the ratio that it has been applied for the cure of yellow fever.
These things ~~would call for~~ seem to under cognize V.S. occupy in this disorder. — The symptoms of the Leprosy - ^{such} soreness - redness of the skin, swelling - difficulty of breathing, redness of the eyes &c &c & the violence of the disease which appears in cases of translated Leprosy. I ^{once} lately visited a young woman who ^{had} long

~~The wonderful & immediate~~ been afflicted with this disease. Formerly her skin was covered with leprous eruptions, ~~It is now nearly~~ ^{afterwards} ~~but~~ ^{but} she of a natural appearance, ~~but~~ ^{soon afterwards} died of ~~was dying~~ ^{with} a galloping pulmonary consumption. Previously to ~~this~~ ^{the} affection of her breast, she had lost her sight by a violent ophthalmia. —

There does exist a cure for this deplorable disorder, ^{ease,} ~~else~~ ^{else} heaven like man would be kind ~~and~~ merciful by halves. This cure I ~~be~~ hope, may more I am fond to ~~be~~ believe will at last be found in the frequent use of the ~~lanet~~ as an alternative remedy. — 90 to 100 ✓

I have said that Scurvy is a misplaced fear from human mi-seria. This in this opinion I have lately heard, I have been anticipated by an East India writer.
I rejoined in the information. If the opinion should lead to a new and more successful mode of treating this disorder, I care not who has first introduced it.

1. All its remote & exciting causes are exactly the same as those of the jail or ship fever. among others foul air.

2. many of its symptoms are the same — It comes on gradually w: th

Cap

an

& h

3.

in

by

h

h

h

v a

Capitade - pains in the bones &c and it is accomp^d with petechiae & hemorrhages.

3 It is probably contagious in some instances. This is I know is denied by Dalin. —

4 The same Remedies cure it, viz, pure Aliment, acid drinks, fresh Air, and Bark is less efficacious in the Scurvy, than in the Jail fever.

Perhaps the Reason is, there may be a degree of morbid action in the blood vessels, which is ^{beyond} ~~intemperate~~ the stimulus of the Bark. In this case would not V.S. be a proper Remedy? The full habits, and stimulating diet of Sailors - the hemorrhoids & psectic on the skin - the pains in the bones &c all conspire to make this opinion probable. Even the apparent debility would seem to call for the lancet, ^{in some cases} ~~in some cases~~, for it is certainly in the beginning of the disorder of the indirect kind.

Be ^{startled at} ~~not~~ the idea of V in the fever, ~~as~~ a few years ago, the lancet brought equal surprise & terror in the Gout, and dropsy. But the old women now call for it in both those disorders.

